

The Complete Package

Macmahon Surface Mining

Macmahon's Surface Mining business has almost 50 years' experience in bulk and selective mining operations.

Starting with its initial surface mining contract in 1967, Macmahon has continued to grow and expand the range of commodities mined to include coal, iron ore, diamonds, gold, copper, nickel, manganese, limestone and phosphates. Additional services such as consulting and feasibility studies are also provided.

Headquartered in Perth, with offices in Brisbane and Adelaide, Macmahon's surface mining and management experience extends internationally, with major contracts in Asia and Africa.

Macmahon provides surface mining services under a variety of contract styles, from schedule of rates to alliance arrangements. The company also has the capacity to deliver a range of associated resource infrastructure - with proven capabilities in bulk earthworks, tailings dams, access roads and site preparation.

Macmahon's Surface Mining capabilities incorporate:

- Drill and Blast
- Mine Management
- Mining (bulk and selective)
- Iron ore and coal process plant operation
- Crushing and screening
- Plant hire
- Plant maintenance
- Tailings dam construction

With a commitment to providing end to end services, Macmahon has built a reputation for successful project delivery and along the way been recognised for award winning results in safety, employment and training.

Macmahon's past and present client base, Anglo Gold Ashanti, Fortescue Metals, BHP Billiton, Peabody Energy and LaFarge to name just a few, demonstrate the robustness of Macmahon's operating systems, and the capability of its people, to work with diversified clients in various mining environments around the world.

Macmahon's "Best for Project" philosophy ensures that client expectations are clearly understood and aligned to our key measures of success, and Macmahon's level of repeat business is testimony to our ability to deliver a safe low cost quality mining service to our valuable clients. The company's mature operating culture is a unique feature which brings added value to clients across all operations and ensures the attraction and retention of quality people to deliver industry leading project outcomes.

The company provides a culture where every employee has the opportunity to apply and develop their abilities, to achieve their potential. Macmahon is proud of skilled and professional individuals who continue to be recognised for their combined accomplishments achieved through teamwork and integrity.

Through its long term contracts, Macmahon partners with clients to invest in local communities by identifying and developing sustainable programs such as tailored employment and training.